

Our fellowship training program has a submission deadline for applications of January 15th each year; however, we do accept applications year round as there may be training slots available, depending on funding options for current trainees, and other factors. Outstanding candidates who wish to train at the UW may also be eligible for training opportunities in other research fellowship programs outside of our own department. Therefore, we invite all interested applicants to apply.

The University of Washington strongly encourages applications from all groups that have been shown by the National Institutes of Health to be nationally underrepresented in health sciences research training. This includes certain racial and ethnic groups, persons with disabilities, or persons from a disadvantaged economic background. If any of these apply, please include that information below.

Instructions:

Please type or print legibly in ink. Each part should be answered completely and accurately. If a question is not applicable, enter "N/A." An incomplete application may delay action or disqualify you. Please do not enter "see CV".

This application should be emailed to:
lmcornel@uw.edu

These are the required documents to complete your application:

- Application form
- Current Curriculum Vitae
- A description of research interests and career goals that outlines a proposed course of future research
- Three letters of recommendation, one of which should be a letter of support from the identified research mentor

Applications will also be accepted by mail at:

Leanne Cornel
UW Medical Center
1959 NE Pacific Street
Department of Anesthesiology & Pain Medicine
Box 356540
Seattle, WA 98195-6540

Scanned electronic applications via email are the preferred submission mode, but mailed material will be accepted.
